NOT ONE CENT OF NEWBERRY MONEY SPENT

—SAYS ATTORNEY
Defense in Michigan Election Case Makes Statement.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 3.—What attorneys predicted might become the nub of the Newberry election conspiracy trial was injected into the opening statement of the defense in federal district court today. It concerned the list of eleven objects which the Michigan law prescribed as legitimate expenses of a campaign committee and finally reached the stage where Judge Clarence W. Sessions announced he was not yet prepared to rule.

Oratory filled the morning session, Frank C. Dailey finishing his statement for the prosecution and James O. Murfin, of Detroit, opening for the defense.

When Mr. Murfin started to read the Michigan statute the government through W. H. Eichhorn, objected that it was a portion of state law which had not been adopted into the federal statute and therefore would not apply to the case. Judge Sessions ruled that the sections might be read but he would not allow Mr. Murfin to construe it and added:

$3,750 for Campaign.
"In order that there may be no misunderstanding I will announce that the court will hold that the federal corrupt practices act adopts that portion of the Michigan law which limits the campaign expenditures of a candidate to one quarter of one's annual salary in the primary and an equal amount in the election."

"In this case the total would be $3,750 for the two campaigns."
"That applies to the candidate's money," suggested Mr. Murfin.
Judge Sessions thought it applied to the campaign and Martin W. Littleton joined the discussion for the defense.

"Do you intend to rule that a political campaign committee with money subscribed by others than a candidate may not legitimately expend it for the eleven purposes specified as legal in Michigan?" he asked.

Judge Sessions was not prepared to answer and Mr. Littleton said he would postpone the question.
Mr. Murfin paid attention in his speech to the claim that Senator Newberry entered the 1918 race only after being solicited by men who attended a conference in Detroit, in August, 1917. The government objected vainly to this description of this meeting but it did not succeed in preventing the attorney from going into the merits of the rival candidates in the election.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 3.—Truman H. Newberry entered the 1918 senatorial campaign in Michigan at the solicitation of others and not in furtherance of a scheme to get a seat in the senate, said James O. Murfin, of Detroit, in outlining to the jury in United States District court the attitude the defense will assume toward the charges of conspiracy and fraud for which 123 men are on trial.
Judge Murfin explained the defense's view of the offense charged in the six counts of the indictment, emphasizing that conspiracy is the essence of the charges.

It was pointed out that on the first four counts "the gist of the charge is not fraud in the election, corruption in the election or anything of that description, but that these respondents are charged with conspiring to defraud the government."

It was further argued that under the Michigan law as long as expenses come within the eleven enumerated clauses in the statute, there is no limit as to the amount of money a committee of a candidate's friends can spend in his behalf.

Should Consider Atmosphere.
"It is my purpose," Judge Murfin told the jurors, "to point out to you in exact detail everything that was done by anybody connected with this campaign in order that you may understand it in its infinite detail. The campaign was unusually hot, and in analyzing and considering what these respondents did, the atmosphere under they did it should be considered."
"Our country was at war as the campaign began to live up to we had just passed our first year of participation and the situation was critical. The last German drive was at its height, the channel ports threatened and the German advance armies within thirty miles of Paris."
"Ford Not True Representative."
"While there had been rumors in Michigan that Henry Ford would be

JOSEPHUS DANIELS

The Secretary of the Navy today appeared before the senate investigating sub-committee which is looking into awards of honor by the navy department and took direct issue with Rear Admiral Sims concerning the relative importance of service at sea and shore duty.

a candidate for the senate, his candidacy was actually announced on June 14, 1918.

"Rightly or wrongly there was a very general feeling that Mr. Ford did not represent the type of American who, at that critical juncture, should represent his state in the United States senate."

"Rightly or wrongly many people remembered his campaign against military preparedness. Many people remembered his well-meaning but misguided efforts to bring about a German peace. Many people were bitter over the fact that he was not active in the war and that none of his family had become active in the war."

Newberry Had Good Record.
"Commander Newberry had had an honorable record in the Spanish-American war. He had been secretary of the navy in the cabinet of Theo. Roosevelt."

"Within forty-eight hours after our country threatened to enter the war he volunteered and, in the spring of 1917 was commissioned a lieutenant commander. His brothers and his two sons were also in military service."

"This combination of circumstances roused many a man in Michigan to the belief that it was his patriotic duty to do all he could to assure the selection of Commander Newberry, and we expect to conclusively show that they were prompted not by pay, but by patriotism."

Was Urged Repeatedly.
"Commander Newberry entered this campaign only after repeated urging. He at first expressed doubts as to the propriety of his being a candidate but finally the commander was persuaded it was his duty to accept."

"He stipulated that he could not leave his duties; that he could not be active and that he could not contribute one dollar to this movement. This determination was religiously adhered to by him and the proof will positively show that not one dollar of his money was ever handled by any one."

"The organization that was subsequently built up under the supervision of Mr. Paul H. King was undoubtedly the most perfect political organization ever put together. The commander was running against the best advertised man in America. It was necessary, in the judgment of these respondents in charge of the campaign that his qualifications be given the widest publicity. A general advertising campaign of newspapers, circulars, pamphlets and similar devices was organized, in charge of the most skillful publicity men who could be found—who did their work thoroughly and with absolute honesty."

From this point the attorney told the jury in detail the connection of most of the respondents with the case.

Gov't Attorney Concluded.
The concluding portions of the government's statement were punctuated with objections from the defense who tried to limit the scope of the government case. Judge Sessions, however, refused to halt Mr. Dailey's statements.

Martin W. Littleton, of counsel for the defense, objected to a description of a tour of an alleged Newberry campaigner masquerading as a lecturer on Orange topics. Mr. Dailey said this man was not allowed to speak at certain meetings, "where his object was known."

"Whether a man could or could not speak is not connected with this issue," said Mr. Littleton.
"I take it that it is intimately connected," said Judge Sessions.
"Except to the ruling and take exception to Your Honor's remark that it is intimately connected," rejoined the New York attorney.

FLU EPIDEMIC IN DIXON MILD, 500 CASES ESTIMATED

No Cause for Alarm, According to City's Physician.

BULLETIN.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill., Feb. 3.—Influenza and pneumonia were reported today. New cases of influenza numbered 952 and of pneumonia 363.

As indicated in last evening's issue of The Evening Telegraph, a meeting was held in the mayor's office at the city hall building this morning at which time health conditions in the city were discussed at considerable length. Mayor Mark D. Smith, Commissioner W. V. Slothower of the department of public health and safety, who took exception to the article in The Telegraph, and City Health Physician Dr. J. B. Werren together with a representative of The Telegraph were present.

The commissioner indicated that there was a tendency to create a "scare" in the community, when in reality there was no cause for alarm and there were but a very few cases of influenza in the city. Dr. Werren in response to a query as to the condition at the present time, answered the commissioner by saying: "It is my honest opinion that there is a mild epidemic of influenza in Dixon. It, however, is not as serious as it was a year ago, but is spread all over the town."

May Be 500 Cases Here.
In response to another question, the physician added that he believed that there were approximately 500 cases in the city, but he stated that there was no cause for great alarm at this time. However, he strongly advised that the citizens pay strict attention to the rules laid down by the federal and state health authorities in order to prevent a more serious epidemic of the disease, such as exists in many of the cities and towns in the immediate vicinity.

A discussion relative to quarantine restrictions was also indulged in to some extent and all of the officials present were unanimous for a rigid enforcement of the quarantine laws pertaining to various diseases. Mayor Smith was very emphatic in his statement that the people should know of the health condition of the city generally, and that while Dixon at this time was not as seriously affected as many of the surrounding cities, every precaution should be exercised in order that a serious epidemic may be averted.

During the meeting, the importance of an isolation hospital was discussed, but no final action taken.

The citizens of Dixon are urged to pay strict attention to the simple rulings relative to influenza cases, even though they be of the mild form.

CONSOLIDATION OF ROADS ELIMINATED FROM RAILROAD ACT

Conferees Make Progress on Proposed Rail Road Bill.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Feb. 3.—Plans for the compulsory consolidation of railroads as provided under the Cummins bill, were eliminated from the railroad bill today by the house and senate conferees who also agreed to strike out senate provisions providing for the establishment of a transportation board. Duties that were to have been assigned the board will instead in the main go to the Interstate Commerce Commission. It was announced.

"Citizens' Suggestions
The squeezing of "water" from railroad stocks and the placing of the roads on a stable financial basis was urged in a brief filed with the house and senate conferees on railroad legislation today by the Citizens' National Railroad League.

A guaranteed return of at least six per cent on the value of the properties and establishment of a revolving fund of one billion dollars instead of $500,000,000 so that the railroads can secure financial assistance at low interest rates and thus "preclude the necessity of their having to go to the old Wall Street interests for their financing," also were recommended.

Would Fund Roads
"Interests of both the country and the carrier would be protected," the brief said, "if the government would fund from ten to fifteen years the entire amount which the railroads now owe it without deducting what it owes the roads." Calling attention to memorandums filed by the National Shippers' Conference and the Association of Railway Executives, the brief said these have "every evidence of being inspired by motives other than those of seeking to attain railroad legislation that will accomplish the greatest good for the greatest number."

"We therefore urge" the brief added, "the imperativeness of refusing to permit any special interest to interfere with the enactment of immediate legislation that will clarify and stabilize the present railroad situation, which is seriously threatening the happiness and progress of our nation."

SEA SERVICE RANKS ABOVE SHORE DUTIES

—SEC. DANIELS

Sec'y. of Navy Takes Stand to Defend Naval Awards.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Feb. 3.—Taking up the contentions of Rear Admiral William S. Sims in the matter of naval awards point by point, Secretary Daniels today before the senate investigating sub-committee took direct issue with the admiral. The secretary went into detail in explaining changes he made in conferring decorations as recommended by the commanding officers of the navy and by the Knight board of medal awards.

He outlined to the committee the two chief differences between his views and those held by Admiral Sims in awarding medals. These were a variance as to importance of service at sea compared with service on shore and differences on the question of whether a distinguished service medal should be awarded under any circumstances to any commander of a ship sunk or seriously damaged by enemy submarines or mines.

Credits Sims' Record

Asserting that Admiral Sims while on shore duty both in the Spanish-American and World War "demonstrated ability of a high order," Secretary Daniels said "the position of Rear Admiral Sims in placing shore duty above sea duty in the danger zone, is no doubt, influenced by his own record." Figures were presented by Mr. Daniels showing that during the last 25 years Admiral Sims had served 16 years on shore and 3 years at sea.

As justifying his contention that individual duties ashore are necessarily of secondary importance to duties afloat Mr. Daniels asserted:

Compares Surroundings

"On shore a man decides important questions in the quiet of office surroundings with time to weigh the pros and cons and if he makes a mistake his error of decision is not immediately followed by disastrous results. At sea the commander, like his men, is in immediate peril. He must make momentous decisions, often when coolness and poise are necessary to save the lives of men. A mistake in this emergency is fatal to a commander at sea."

With this as an impelling reason the secretary said he disapproved of the disparity between honors to men ashore and afloat as recommended by the Knight board and accordingly reduced or eliminated a number of awards for shore service.

In support of his contention that a commander of a ship sunk or damaged by submarine attack was entitled to a medal if he showed proper qualifications even though the ship was unable to combat the submarine, Secretary Daniels cited numerous examples in American naval history and also pointed to instances of such awards by the French government during the world war. American naval history, he told the committee, was filled with precedents upholding his action in awarding the distinguished service medal to commanders of ships sunk by submarine or mines.

"In the stiletto attacks of submarine warfare," said Mr. Daniels, "it is not the fact that a man strikes or is struck that tests true mettle, and true naval leadership. The question is: does he play the part of the man with chivalry and think only of others and of his country? And has he done all that is possible to meet any and every emergency? And when he faces a court of his brother officers do they find that he has measured up to the high naval traditions? Admirals Mayo and Gleaves and Vice Admiral Grant recommended commanding officers under them for distinguished service medals who displayed these high qualities when their ships were sunk or damaged. The board of awards approved their recommendations. The greatest thing that a man ever does is to turn a stumbling block into a stepping stone. If medals are not given for this sort of noble courage and coolness and direction in supreme danger what on earth are they designed for?"

Referring to Admiral Sims' statement that he had not recommended any enlisted men for medals because "we had nothing to give them," the secretary called the committee's attention to the fact creating the awards which he said made no distinction between an admiral, captain and enlisted man.

Service Thing That Counts

"It is the service he renders in peril, and not his rank that counts," he added. "There are occasions when a ship is threatened with destruction and when for a moment its safety and protection depend on an enlisted man and he is then in a 'position of great responsibility' and if he performs his duties at that moment with courage and devotion, he is fully entitled to the recognition of his contribution."

Selling Pressure Marks Corn Close

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Feb. 3.—Although sensational news in sterling exchange induced some scattered selling of corn today, the corn market showed but little disposition to give way in sympathy. In this connection bulls pointed out that exports of corn have never reached a large aggregate. Another sustaining factor was the government report showing that the amount of live stock on farms in the United States was greatly in excess of estimates heretofore current. Opening corn prices which varied from unchanged figures to 1/2¢ lower, with changed figures to 1/2¢ lower, with May 1.35 1/2¢, and July 1.32 1/2¢, were followed by a rally all around to above yesterday's finish.

Oats held steady with corn. After opening 1/4¢ off to a shade advance, including May at 83 1/2¢ the market hardened a trifle.

Weakness of exchange affected provisions more than grain. Lard in particular was somewhat depressed.

In the last half of the day selling pressure on corn owing to word that further demoralization of exchange was bringing out offers to cancel export sales of oats and rye. Corn closed unsettled, 1/4¢ to 1 1/2¢ net lower, with May 1.34 1/2¢ to 1.34 1/2¢ and July 1.31 1/2¢ to 1.31 1/2¢.

Thousands Respond to Government Plea in H. C. L. Attack

Grain Corporation Sale of High Grade, Low Priced Flour Proves Success

Home cooks by the thousands are reporting unqualified success and satisfaction in their use of government flour which is being offered by dealers throughout the country, co-operating with the Government in combating extravagance and high living costs.

The economical housewife has grasped the opportunity to save 20 to 40 per cent in buying this pure wheat flour, and millers are beginning to produce it in competition with the Government.

In many communities retailers' stocks have been depleted as fast as shipments were received. A car shortage has interfered materially with the distribution of the flour, but it is now available to every retailer in the country who is willing to co-operate with the Government and save money for his customers.

duet by the Distinguished Service medal.

With that in mind, he ordered further study of navy records when he found that only 119 enlisted men of the 500,000 in the navy during the war had been recommended for any high honor, he explained. As the result of this study as yet incomplete he said 13 additional enlisted men were awarded the distinguished service medal and 64 more men were put on the list for navy crosses. Emphatic denial was made by the secretary of Admiral Sims' statement that the policy followed in awarding medals had "shot to pieces" the navy's morale. It is an insult to the splendid men of the navy to say that the morale of the service could be seriously impaired by any question of award to individuals," the secretary said on that point. "They are made of stern stuff."

There never has been, Mr. Daniels declared, any question of favoritism or relationship in the matter of his relations with Commander Bagley.

Mr. Daniels said he had no criticism of the work of the board of awards, headed by Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight and that its recommendations were faithfully made on the basis of the meagre information in its possession.

Carrying a Ton a Mile for less than a Cent

Freight rates have played a very small part in the rising cost of living.

Other causes—the waste of war, under-production, credit inflation—have added dollars to the cost of the necessities of life, while freight charges have added only cents.

The average charge for hauling a ton of freight a mile is less than a cent.

A suit of clothing that sold for $30 before the war was carried 2,265 miles by rail from Chicago to Los Angeles for 16 1/2 cents.

Now the freight charge is 22 cents and the suit sells for $50.

The cost of the suit has increased 20 dollars.

The freight on it has increased only 5 1/2 cents.

Other transportation charges enter into the cost of the finished article—carrying the wool to the mills and the cloth to the tailors—but these other charges amount to but a few cents more.

The $10 pair of shoes that used to sell for $5 goes from the New England factory to the Florida dealer for a freight charge of 5 1/2 cents—only one cent more than the pre-war rate.

Beef pays only two-thirds of a cent a pound freight from Chicago to New York.

American freight rates are the lowest in the world.

SOCIAL AT WILD CAT SCHOOL—

The box social at the Wild Cat school was well attended and the audience was entertained with an interesting program, consisting of short plays, recitations, school songs and several duets, all of which were well given.

After the exercises Mr. Claude Garman auctioned off the boxes with great success. The district regrets to lose him and his family as he moves from the community in March. The lunch booth was abundantly supplied with pie, doughnuts, drop cakes, sandwiches, and hot coffee. Mrs. Kroehler, who had supervision of the counter won the patronage of the people with her pleasing way and hearty laugh. By the time supper was over the supply of provisions was exhausted.

The proceeds of the boxes and the lunch counter netted the sum of nearly forty dollars, which will be used in the purchase of a musical instrument, song books, oil stove, enlargement of the equipment for warm lunches, manual training tools and supplies, reference books and texts on Domestic Science, manual training and agriculture.

The teacher, H. W. Hicks, asks that the community as well as the Dixon people who attended, be thanked for their co-operation and patronage.

At about 11 o'clock the crowd dispersed and started homeward, enjoying the bob rides in the bright moonlight and brisk air.

At Death's Door

"I was talking with my neighbor, Mr. Webb, the other day, regarding the great trouble his stomach had given him. He said he suffered 7 or 8 years, and had been almost at death's door a number of times from acute indigestion and bloating of gas, which seemed to shut off his heart action. He said he wouldn't have lived much longer if he hadn't taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy when he did, which made a well man of him." ## DIXON TRUST & SAVINGS BANK

When this bank was organized, it was the intention of the organizers to extend to the public every convenience and banking facility possible—to equip and maintain departments of service of every character.

On this basis, we wish to invite your attention to the fact that we have established a Bond Department, for the buying and selling of high grade bonds and securities of all kinds. These bonds are either owned by us, or will be purchased through our banking connections, and are of the most approved and safest variety. They are such bonds and securities as the larger banks of Chicago and New York purchase for themselves and for their customers.

We are in a position to purchase for your account any quoted security in the market. We can sell you these securities for cash, or can arrange for you to make a small cash payment and loan you the greater part of the purchase price, using the bonds as collateral. For instance—if you have one or two hundred dollars, and are saving up to purchase an investment when you have more money, we will sell you a $500 or $1,000 bond, accept your cash payment, and take your note for the balance, with the bond as security, and allow you to pay off the note as rapidly, and in such amounts as will be convenient to you. The interest on your bond will more than pay the interest on your note to us, hence the carrying cost to you will be nothing.

Another thing—many bonds and securities of sterling character are now on the bargain counter, and never again, or at least for many years, will you have the opportunity to invest your money in good securities at such attractive rates of interest.

We quote herewith some of the many issues we are handling, and suggest that you come to the bank and talk them over with us.

Extra Fine in Metals
Extra Fine in Mileage

A Maxwell car weighs 2130 pounds. It is made of the finest materials that may be obtained.

You cannot find in any car a better crankshaft, better bearings, better axles or better gears.

Neither science nor money can produce them better.

Do you know why such fine materials are used in a car like Maxwell?

We had to.

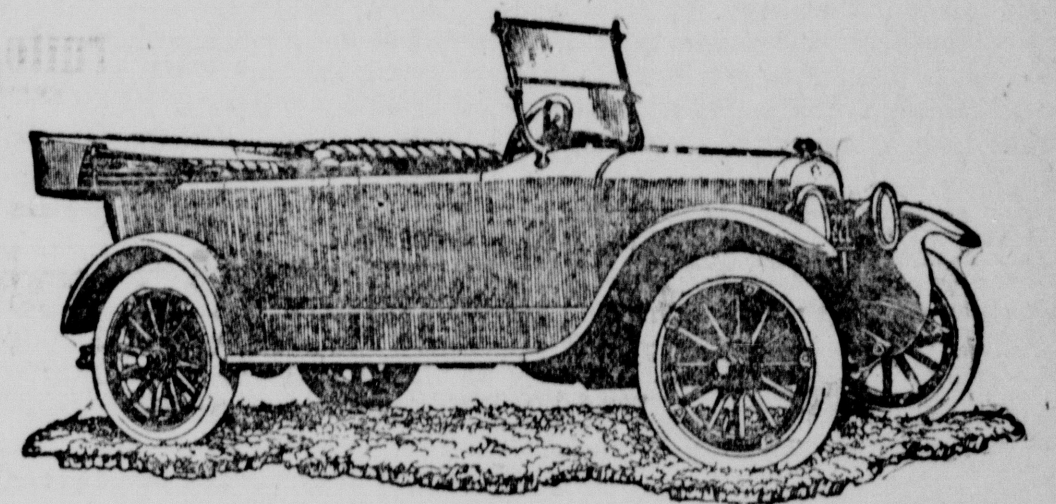

Keeping its weight down and yet maintaining strength mean the use of only those extra fine steels and metals.

For a metal that is light in weight and yet strong, as any user of metals knows, is a high priced metal.

The use of these fine grades of steel has been the foundation of the business. Maxwell has grown in numbers and friends. The latter countless; the former well on the road to 400,000.

CRYING IN THE DARK

Why does a child cry in the dark? Or rather, why does it cry when it is alone in the dark?

Because it is uncomfortable and uneasy,
just as you would be if you were locked up alone in a dark cell. It is afraid, and being afraid, it can be thrown into a panic by any unfamiliar sight or sound that catches its attention; even by the strange play of light and color that may take place in closed eyes,
with nothing at all outside to cause it.

Such fears may seem unreasonable, but they are very natural, for we inherit them from our remote ancestors, to whom they were a means of safety.

In our modern world a child is never safer than when he is tucked away in bed, with a parent awake in the next room. But when our ancestors lived in forests or jungles amidst all sorts of enemies, a child alone in the dark was a child in danger, and so nature gave him the fear that kept him from wandering and the cry that brought the parents to him if he happened to get lost. Indeed, she gave it to all young animals. And now that times have changed, the children still have it.

So when they cry at night, let parents think of the days of long ago, and comfort them as the cave man did when all the family slept together and there were no artificial lights to keep the grown-ups away from the kiddies. It does little good to tell a fearful child that there is nothing to be afraid of,
and scolding is worse than useless. What the child needs is the comforting tone, or perhaps even the touch, that assures him that someone is present and sympathetic. If he feels secure from the beginning he can gradually learn to get along alone. But it is cruel and harmful to make him cry himself to sleep in fear.

THE PRICE OF LIBERTY

There is no liberty in Bolshevism. It has been tried conspicuously twice—in France in 1871 and recently in Russia. Informed people know that there was no liberty in the 1871 commune nor is there liberty in Russia today. Liberty neither for the Russian middle class nor for the Russian workingman.

Ignorance begets Bolshevism, while education and intelligence begets trade unionism and the higher things that come with trades unionism.

Whatever Bolshevism there is in the United States today is the result of a failure of eternal vigilance. The poor, oppressed, ignorant came to these shores in swarms and Americans took them as a matter of course, treated them like cattle or gave no thought to them at all. Little or no attempt was made to educate them, to enforce decent conditions of living among them, to teach them the true meaning of democratic liberty or to gain their good will as neighbors in a common community. Instead, greed was given full rein to exploit them. Thus, ignorance was permitted to stew in its own rotten juices and it brought forth a dish of I. W. W.ism and Bolshevism.

It is easy to see now why the country has who foolishly and fanatically are ready to throw themselves against the government of this land of freedom. It was because the American people forgot that "eternal vige-lance is the price of liberty."

A TEST FOR UNDERWOOD

United States Senator Underwood of Alabama faces a fight for renomination and as the Democratic nomination is equivalent to election, the state wide primary, May 11, settles so far as the candidates are concerned.
Underwood is opposed by union labor and the Anti-Saloon League and L. B. Murgrove, one of the wealthiest citizens in the state, is said to be the choice of Underwood's oppo-ents. Many politicians would be terrified by the opposition of either the Anti-Saloon League or labor, but Underwood is a politician of parts, and his fighting qualities are of a high order. It will be interesting to see if it is possible for a candidate to triumph over enemies as powerful as those opposing Underwood.

WHISTLING FOLKS

The whistlers, as a class, belong to the good people of the world. The boy that goes bravely whistling up the street isn't "bent on devilment." The man who on A-Sunday morning wrestles around under a gassy motor car, gently blowing out the notes of "Rock of Ages" isn't thinking much about sin. And the housewife, if one may listen in, is heard to softly whistle the notes of some song of girlhood or of motherhood, as she proceeds about her housewifely duties, can generally be depended upon to be of the right stuff, all the way through.

Taken all the way through, the whistlers,
men, women and boys, yes and girls, too, are an optimistic, happy, contented lot. Whistling seems to be a natural way of mind expression. It is for many people mental relaxation for solitary situations. It helps out the song writers.

FINE MEDICINE

Sam Gompers, leader of American labor,
recently hustled past his seventieth birthday,
hale and hearty, "feeling like forty" he said.

And he confessed that his life "has been most irregular. I cannot remember a time when I had to have my meals at a certain hour or set aside an hour to sleep. I ate when I could and slept when I could. The only influence that governed my meals and sleeping was my work."

Therein must lie the secret of Sam Gompers' life, the man of seventy who feels like forty, and who has worked hard since he first went to a cigarmaker's shop when a mere boy.

"I believe," he continues, "that work is the greatest medicine known to man. It keeps us young in years. It is an invigorator and an incentive to greater things."

Sam Gompers knows what he is talking about, for he has been taking his own medicine—work—over half a century.

Some mathematical mind has figured that during the war three billion working days were lost and will have to be made up. Well, as this is leap year, after Feb. 29, we will only be short 2,999,999,999 days.

If Dempsey worked as a riveter he shouldn't object to the clang of hammers now busy knocking his record.

Mrs. Dibbs—Just before you came we drew lots to see who'd fire the cook, and I won.—Buffalo Express.

STANDING IT

"Before we were married he had a standing order with

And since marriage?
"He has a standing order with an employment agency

LABEL

Said the Booster to the Knocker, "I'm supposed to boost,
it's true,
Yet, while I boost the boosters, I am knocking—knocking you."
Said the Knocker to the Booster, "Man, you'd never draw a breath
If I didn't knock the knockers who'd be knocking you to death."

"Then I'll boost you," said the Booster, "for it's very plain to see
That I ought to boost the Knocker when his knocks are boosting me."
"If you boost me," said the Knocker, "I shall knock you on the spot."
For when you boost a knocker, you are knocking, are you not?"

"If I boost you," said the Booster, "then I knock? And knock myself?
But if I, a booster—knock you, then my job goes on the shelf.
O I meant to be a booster, not a senseless, heartless knocker.
Yes, I mean to be a booster and I find myself a knocker!"

"When I knock you," said the Knocker, "I am boosting little me,
And even though I knock myself, I boost your work, you see.
So I mean to be a knocker, not a senseless, crowing
rooster.
Yes, I mean to be a knocker, but I find myself a booster!"

Mr. Knocker, Mr. Booster, life is life and few are able to go its way consistently, relying on a label
For a booster is a knocker when he boosts without a thought.
And a knocker is a booster when he knocks the things he ought.

Confessions of a Bride

Copyrighted 1919 by the Newspaper Enterprise Association

Bob has never let himself go about the war. Like many returned soldiers he refuses to talk about it at all, but his family has never doubted that he harbors a lasting wrath against the Hun who has blotted this century's history with horror. Bob, who is usually so silent, was quick to take up Morrison's theory about the abduction of American citizens by Mexican bandits.

"Anything to stir up trouble for the United States—that's the German way. Maybe Morrison is right," he said.

As he spoke, I thought of the ghost I had resurrected in Mexico: Hamilton Certes—international spy—a German on his mother's side, and from his father the inheritor of a Spanish title and vast wealth!

I mustn't let Bob get away to Mexico without discussing Certes with him and with Jim. I must tell of Certes' strange resemblance to the leader of the bandits. I must speak of the spy system at the hacienda, and the little maid who carried tales, and the administrator who had tried to cripple Jim's plane to prevent my escape.

But I couldn't interrupt the conversation. Jim was offering a contribution in support of Morrison's theory.

"I know a general," he said and everybody laughed because Jim being only a lieutenant, isn't supposed to know generals intimately. "Old friend of mine—went to college together. He's been in Germany lately. He declares that German propaganda is as subtle today as at any time during the war. He says it aims to embroil us in complications with our neighbor nations, and to spread red revolution within our own gates, that it's directed against the very foundations of our republic."

"I read the other day that 35,000 Germans were about to emigrate to Mexico," I ventured.

"Sure we've got a right to dread that influence right under your Uncle Sam's nose," remarked Morrison. Every right-minded citizen ought to recognize German propaganda wherever it crops up and thwart it."

"Boys, the business of this expedition is to rescue Miss Miller from outlaws—from rebels against their own government. Remember that!" was Bob's warning. "And I guess we'd better get ready to start."

"I guess, Bob, you'd better wake up before you go," I drawled in a tone which always make my husband wary. "You have brought that scamp, Berghoff, down here as your valet. Suspicion concerning German propaganda would better begin right under your own nose, it seems to me."

"Berghoff was interested in Miss Miller's rescue. Naturally he wanted to come. He had been in her employ for months," Bob protested.

"He helped to abduct Bobs," I retorted.

"He obeyed orders," Bob said, shortly, and then he rose off his feet as if the conversation had come to an end.

"Can you guess why Babs was sent to Mexico?"

Bob shook his head. You recall the curious brown envelope—the foreign paper which gave me the first clue to Babs' whereabouts?"

Bob nodded—Morrison came over and stood by my chair—Jim, too, whom the story was new, leaned forward to listen.

"When Berghoff sent the baby to his friend in Mexico, he was using Miss Miller as a tool of propaganda. His pernicious German propaganda! First, he put Miss Miller in correspondence with a physician in San Jose, then he used the envelope addressed by her and containing her checks to pay the child's expense she used those envelopes to enclose secrets which were mighty important to a certain German spy."

"Whew!" whistled Jimmy boy. "Go to it, Sissy."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barlow

ONCE-UPON TOWN

Whisk! The magic green shoes just lifted Nancy and Nick out of Peach-
Can Town like little light feathers, and set them down gently in another town called Once-Upon Town.

Of course it, too, was in the Land of Lost Things. They were determined to stay a while or two whiles or maybe three, just to be sure their monkey wasn't there.

Now the things in Once-Upon Town were unusual, because they didn't need houses. They were the houses! Take a book and spread its covers out like a tent and let the leaves hang down. There! That book doesn't need a house, does it?—it is a house.

That's the way in Once-Upon Town, where all the lost books live. They just spread out their covers like tents—whole streets of 'em.

And now—you'll never believe this, I'm sure—the pictures in the books

The lost books in Once-Upon Town just spread out their covers like tents—whole streets of 'em.

were out playing and the twins recognized a lot of them right away. There was Hi-Diddle-Dee-Dee-John with one shoe on, hopping all around. Mother Goose was calling him back. "John, come here or you'll catch cold. That's the way with you, you shiftless boy. You go to bed in your stockings and then run all over the streets with one shoe off. Come here at once."

John hung his head after such a scolding and crept back under the book covers where he belonged.

Nancy and Nick felt sorry for him, but the magical mushroom said it was a good thing. As a rule books knew more than people, anyway. And it seemed that the mushroom was right, for many of the Mother Goose people were misbehaving. Tom Tucker was screaming that he was hungry. Tom the Pilper's Son, was pushing rudely, and his pig was squealing, too. Mother Goose was very busy!

relating to hygiene, sanitation, and the prevention of disease. Address:

ANSWERED.

Q—I was discharged from the army eight months ago, and despite all I can do, cannot get rid of an annoying reminder of my service, namely, a cough. What would you advise?
A—You are probably entitled to free medical care under the provisions of the War Risk Act. Please send me your name and address and I will see that the matter is referred to the proper authorities.

Q—I am a high school student, studying biology. Can you tell me all about sewage disposal?
A—To do so would require a book.
I will send you your name and address and I will send you some helpful pamphlets, which will probably give you all the information you desire.

Q—What is "winter cholera"? Is it Asiatic cholera? How is it spread?

America's Cup coffee—the cup that cheers. Moon Grocery, North Dixon.

THE STAR BOARDER

Who sings out a merry, "Going up," or a cherry "Going down" about a million times a day, and yet keeps a smile foremost?

IT WOULD be pretty tough for the rest of us humans to try to get along without the human Mr. Elevator Man, wouldn't it?

OTHER DAY COPPERHEADS.

No doubt the Copperheads of the Civil War flattered themselves that they were "independent" thinkers
just as do the people who have leaped to the sides of the Bolsheviks and anarchists whose deportation the great majority of the people approve.

No doubt they sneered at loyalist neighbors as mere sheep who permitted Abe Lincoln to herd them at his will, assumed that their own country must necessarily be wrong just because it was their country, felt pleased to praise the enemy because the praise distinguished them from Tom, Dick and Harry who had so little intelligence and such mushy sentimentality as to love their own nation. The Copperhead spirit of a little over a half century ago was probably little distinguished from that of these times.

Curiously, for all the self-adulation of the earlier Copperheads, their vast capacity for believing that running counter to the popular trend of thought was proof of ripe mentality,
they outgrew the power of boasting about it. As time passed they endeavored to forget the period of Cop-perheadism, sought to suppress or doctor public records of their disloyalty. We suppose that an instance wherein a descendant of a Civil War Copperhead exulted over the family chronicles is unknown to American experience.

The history will not alter the assertive Copperheadism of today. The self-conceit of the man who takes up the fad of automatically differing with his fellows, convinced that God has endowed him with transcendental brains, is beyond the self-love of peacecocks. The tragedy for him is that he will some day face his mirror no longer with pride, but with shame.—

50 Rural Carriers Resigning Each Day

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Feb. 2. — Rural mail carriers are resigning at the rate of fifty a day, W. D. Brown, representing the National Rural Mail Carriers association, told the senate postal committee today, adding that the service faced serious difficulties unless financial relief was accorded the employees. He asked a permanent increase of approximately sixty percent over the present base pay of $1,200 per annum, with a minimum base of $1,920. The increased annual expense would be about $78,000,000 he said.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

If big sister feels inspired to have a Valentine party, she need only to remember that hearts are trump and that to a mere man food means much so charm his eye and tickle his palate.

A buffet supper of salads and sandwiches and fancy cakes and ices and of course coffee which has no ornamental value but satisfies the inner man, as an attractive fruit punch will not, will prove easy for the hostess.

Let each man acquire a supper partner, either by choice or lottery, and then he may lead his "lady fair" to some secluded nook to wait for him to serve her with the choicest tidbits. He can procure in the dining room. The hostess is relieved of all the details of serving and needs only to be on duty in the one place to see that each helpless creature gets enough of everything.

A large sized supper plate will be most comfortable to use. Each plate might be served with salad in the kitchen ready for sandwiches and olives and nuts. Or the salad may be placed in a large salad bowl and each one serve himself. To save upheaval send the cakes and ices around on trays by a couple of small sisters, too young to be of the party, but old enough to be useful and interested.

Menu for Party

Lobster salad, brown bread and butter sandwiches, bread and butter sandwiches, nut bread sandwiches, ripe olives, salted almonds, harlequin ice cream, nut macaroons, coconut kisses, coffee.

My Own Recipes

The salad is so rich that the sandwiches need to be quite simple and have no highly flavored filling. As to the salad itself, it will save a great amount of work if one uses canned lobster. Of course it has not the delicate taste of freshly fresh fish, but in preparing a large amount of salad the time and labor involved in removing the meat from the shell would be considerable and hardly worth while.

LOBSTER SALAD

Equal parts of lobster and celery
1/4 hard-boiled egg to a portion Pickled beets
Mayonnaise dressing.

Mix fish and celery. Moisten with dressing. Arrange on lettuce and drop a spoonful of dressing on top. Garnish with crescents of egg and thin slices of beets cut in the shape of hearts.

MAYONNAISE DRESSING

1/2 teaspoon mustard
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoonful powdered sugar
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 egg yolks
1 1/2 cups olive oil
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 to 4 tablespoons lemon juice and vinegar mixed.

Mix dry ingredients. Add egg yolks and blend thoroughly. Add one-half teaspoon vinegar and beat with a Dover beater until smooth. Continue beating and add oil drop by drop. As mixture thickens thin with lemon juice and vinegar. Add more oil and alternate with the vinegar and lemon until all is used. If the oil is added too fast the dressing will curdle. If this happens a new egg may be beaten until thick and then the curdled mixture may be slowly added to it. Mayonnaise should be thick enough to hold its shape.

HARLEQUIN ICE CREAM

Chocolate ice cream

Orange ice

Strawberry ice cream

These two kinds of ice cream and orange ice make a good combination. As it is rather a chore to make in home order the dessert frozen in brick form from your caterer.

NUT MACAROONS

Whites 2 eggs
2 cups light brown sugar
2 1/2 cups hickory nut meats
1/2 teaspoon salt

Beat whites with 1 tablespoon water until stiff and dry. Roll sugar and beat slowly into whites. Add nuts sprinkled onto a buttered dripping pan about an inch apart. Bake in a moderate oven until a delicate brown.

There's the King of Hearts, but there's also the Knave of Hearts.

WOMEN WHO SUFFER FROM BACKACHE AND DIZZY SPELLS

Cairo, Ill. — "For the past ten years I have depended a great deal upon 'Favorite Prescription' whenever I have been run-down, weak or nervous, and especially when going through middle life it is simply wonderful the relief 'Favorite Prescription' gave me from backaches and dizzy spells. 'I certainly take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to all women going through this trying period of life.' — Mrs. J. H. HAYDEN, 517 Tenth St.

Young Mothers
Savanna, Ill. — "I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to be a splendid tonic during expectancy and it helped to eliminate suffering. I would never hesitate to recommend it to other young mothers, not to use it again." — Mrs. J. W. KEILLEN, Gilbur St.

Quincy, Ill. — "When I was a girl at home Dr. Pierce's medicines were in constant use in our family. My mother and sister took the 'Favorite Prescription' with good results and the 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured my brother of a very bad cough that had bothered him for some time. Since I married I took 'Favorite Prescription' for woman's weakness, also during expectancy when I was all run-down, weak and nervous and would be nauseated all the time. I was so delicate I could scarcely get around. The 'Prescription' soon gave me strength and kept me feeling well. My baby weighed twelve pounds. I really could not have gone through what I did only for 'Favorite Prescription.' — Mrs. STELLA STECKDALL, 1532 Jefferson St.

THE PICNIC'S AFTERMATH

CHAPTER 59

Robert slept heavily until 10 o'clock. When I called him "lazy bones" and laughed at him for sleeping so late, he said:

"I guess if you had played games like I did yesterday you would be tired too. I was stiff from not using my muscles. I feel sore, as if I had been pounded. But as I had a wonderful time! You missed it by not going."

"Yes, I guess I did."

Robert looked surprised, but said nothing. After I had made him a cup of coffee, and given him some crackers to stay his appetite until the Sunday dinner should be served I said:

"Now tell me all about it, what you did and everything."

"Oh, we went out into the country in automobiles, played games until dinner; had dinner, more games, back in autos. That's about all I guess." He yawned and stretched his arms above his head.

"Why that isn't telling me anything at all! What did you have for dinner? How many were there of you? What time did you get in town?"

"We had soup, cold meats of all kinds, bread and butter, coffee and cakes. A good feed, and plenty of it. There were about 50 of us in all."

"And what time did you get back?"

"About six."

"About six?" I repeated. "Why where did you go? It was after midnight when you came in."

"It was time of eat again, and I thought if only I could take Marion to dinner, since she had been good enough to go with me."

"Where did you go?"

"To Halley's."

I knew it was an expensive restaurant, and probably showed my astonishment, for Robert added:

"I wanted to hear some music, and see some life. That is, I wanted Marion to see. She has been out very little since her father died."

"But she was at the picnic. I should think that might have sufficed for one day."

"My heaven's sake, Gerry, stop quizzing me and finding fault. If you didn't want to do anything yourself, don't act the dog in the manger if someone else does. I asked you first. You threw me down, and—

"Where did you go after dinner?" I interrupted coldly.

"To a movie. I thought we might as well finish out the day." He yawned again.

I asked no more questions. I was not so much hurt over what Robert had done, as the careless manner in which he had left me alone all evening, and his tone in telling of it. It was as tho he hadn't once thought of me.

I recalled what Mary Ryan had said about "spending a long blissful day together," and while I knew she had borrowed the expression from some novel, it somehow seemed to fit the day Robert had spent with Marion Hovey.

"I wished all day I had gone with you," I finally remarked.

"Marion would have missed a treat."

"Perhaps you had a better time with her than I had gone."

It was a childish remark, unworthy of a woman who had refused to accept her husband's invitation and so almost forced him to take someone else.

"Perhaps! Marion is a good little pal. She's so interested in everyone, how they get on, and all that. Then she's jolly, and talks of interesting things. And—"

"Which I do not," I could not help the remark, neither could I hide the bitterness I felt. But if Robert noticed he paid no attention. He answered:

"You are too apt to talk shop," Gerry. "I guess all women who are in business or are business women are apt to forget it. They don't seem to be able to forget it. When a man tired or discouraged, he isn't in a mood to hear about Mrs. Smith buying a hat, or Mrs. Jones returning one because

It wasn't becoming. Don't think I am finding fault—I guess you can't help it, you business women."

"Pity you married a business woman, if you liked the other kind so much better!" I retorted, but if Robert heard he made no reply—just read his paper until dinner time.

FEBRUARY, SHORTEST MONTH, FIVE SUNDAYS

Will Not Happen Again Until 1948—Can Go to Church.

A short month is February, but this time it is going to be a good one in which to be good. That is, churchgoers will be given the opportunity of going to church on five Sundays, even though there are but 28 days in the month. The fact that it is ushered in on a Sunday accounts for the unusual occurrence.

It will be the first time in 40 years that this has happened. And it won't happen again for 28 more years.

There are other nice things about the month besides the extra Sunday, one of them being the extra day. Your landlord, if he charges you by the month, will get less than for the ordinary February, but more of course, than for the other months of the year.

But then, unless you develop a healthier appetite you stand to eat less during the month, despite the addition of an extra day. The grocer may find much to regret in this but the housewife, who deals in facts and figures having to do with household accounts, thrift weeks, etc., will find much to rejoice in.

February, also, is replete with holidays. Lincoln's birthday will be harder to observe with split rails and hickory cloth almost extinct. Valentine's day follows soon after, and with the present shortage of paper, together with the bottom out of the sentiment market, it will probably suffer likewise. On George Washington's anniversary cherry pie will probably be boosted to 25 cents per cut, which will be another drawback to proper celebration.

Aviators "Shown Every Attention"

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Laredo, Tex., Feb. 2.—Lieutenants B. F. Davis and G. E. Grimes, American Army aviators, who returned to United States last night from Mexico yesterday after their release by Mexican authorities said today, they had been shown "every attention" by the people of Guerrero, Mex., near which city they were forced to land last Wednesday when their gasoline supply failed. At no time were they under guard or confinement they said.

No Hapsburg Ruler in Hungary; Allies

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, Feb. 2.—Formal denial of rumors that the allies would promote or recognize the restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty in Hungary was issued by the council of ambassadors this afternoon. The statement said such a restoration would be in direct variance with the principles of the peace settlement.

Yellow Mustard for Sore Throat, Tonsillitis

Old fashioned remedies are often the best. Yellow Mustard, in the form of plaster or poultice, has been used for generations for soreness, inflammation, congestions and swellings with most excellent results—but it blistered.

Heat eases pain and Begg's Mustard is made of pure yellow mustard, together with other pain relieving ingredients is just as hot, but quicker, cleaner, and more effective and cannot blister.

When your throat is sore, when you have pleurisy, bronchitis or a pain-shooting chest cold you can get speedy and lasting relief with this most effective preparation because heat eases pain. Every druggist has it—30 and 60 cents at druggists or by mail, S. C. Wells & Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

Clothing Industries to Shave the Profits

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Feb. 2.—Insistence that all interests engaged in producing men's clothing shave their profits by agreement in order to force down prices is understood to have marked a conference behind closed doors today between department of justice officials and representatives of all elements of the industry. Cotton and wool growers, manufacturers and wholesale and retail dealers were represented at the meeting with Assistant Attorney General Figg in charge of the lower price campaign.
A tentative program drafted by the department, the basis of which was not disclosed was said to have been laid before the meeting by Mr. Figg, together with the views of Attorney General Palmer.
The conference brought out for the first time a new policy of the department in its effort to introduce the cost of living. No statement will be made by the department relative to the present discussions until some definite agreement has been reached, Mr. Figg said. He was said to have declared against "promising the public something which could not be assured without the second party to the agreement had carried out its end of the program."

Identify Bodies of Sailors Washed Up

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Savannah, Ga., Feb. 2.—Four of the five bodies washed up on Jekyll Island, near here, yesterday, with wreckage from an unidentified craft, were identified today as those of members of the crew of a tug, believed to have been the ocean going tug Fortune which carried a crew of from 14 to 20 men.

New York, Feb. 2.—The tug Fortune was under charter to the North American Steamship corporation and was commanded by Captain J. E. Owen, according to officials of the corporation here. They said the last heard of the Fortune was when she left Newport News January 29 for Miami, Fla. It was announced here that she carried a crew of ten men.

Approve List Men Wanted from Germany

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Paris, Feb. 2.—The list of German subjects whose extradition is demanded by the allies was finally approved by the council of ambassadors today. The council also approved the terms of the note to accompany the list. A drafting committee was charged with the drawing up of the note. The council considered an application for the admission of the Belgian ambassador to the meetings of the council, on the ground of Belgium's proximity to Germany and her participation in the occupation of the Rhineland and it was decided to invite him to attend the council meetings when Belgian interests were in question.
